

A New Approach to LTC Planning

When it comes to planning for long-term care, research strongly suggests the best way to get someone to take action is to make it simple. We recommend advisors reduce the number of decisions prospective buyers need to make. A "Good, Better, Best" approach as shown below allows the client to choose the best coverage that fits their budget.

GOOD

Gain access to essential care coordination services, while also covering a portion of the cost of care and locking in your current age and health.

$1500

Annual premium with 3% compound inflation protection

BETTER

A plan that has a higher benefit to offset the cost of a long-term care event.

$2500

Annual premium with 3% compound inflation protection

BEST

A plan that will provide a significant amount of coverage to cover the majority to full cost at the time of care.

$3800

Annual premium with 3% compound inflation protection
